You wake up at 6 am and close your eyes for 5 min and it is already 6:45 am. You are at work and it's 2:30 you close your eyes for 5 min and it's 2:31 with your boss standing there, watching you.

Town and Country Luxury Fireplaces has been in the process of upgrading their line of fireplaces to the D2 series. The new D2 units come with some new features, perhaps the most exciting of which is the new Bluetooth wall switch and TC fire app (Downloadable from the App store or GooglePlay). These give the user the ability to control the flame height and light features of the Town & Country fireplace. The D2 no longer has the adjustable lintel, but rather goes back to the traditional fixed lintel. This cleans up the fireplace's appearance by removing the bracket hardware required to adjust the lintel and also provides a stronger lintel bar. The casing for the lighting wires has been “beefed up” to reduce possible damage to the wires during the moving of the unit. And all D2 units are shipped with a metal cover to protect the screen and the glass during shipment and installation. Series D burners and panels will work with the D2 Fireplaces, as the only changes are to the unit itself. There is no price difference between the D units and D2 units. This is a running change and we will not be shipping D2 units until the D series in a specific model has sold out at Northwest Stoves. At the time of writing, the TC36D2 and TC42D2 are already shipping from Northwest Stoves.

Delta Fusion

Big view, big fire and big heat—but the one thing the Delta Fusion doesn't have is big emissions, this impressive fireplace is EPA certified at 1.3g/hr. Emissions in this low range is virtually unheard of with a non-catalytic appliance and totally unheard of in a heating appliance with such a huge decorative fire.

The Delta Fusion is non-catalytic, comes with a 4.4 cubic foot firebox, has 510 square inches of panoramic views and features rustic styling.

Whether you are new to wood burning or not you will appreciate the easy operation of the Fusion. It is as simple as filling with wood and kindling, light the match close the door and watch the big beautiful flames. With the Fusion you get a consistent beautiful, environmentally friendly fire with no black glass or dirty chimney. The clean burn is achieved with lots of secondary combustion which happens when the fire is most visually appealing. The Delta Fusion is in stock and retails for $4995.

North Central Heating Smithers, B.C.

In this edition of the newsletter we would like to shine the spotlight on North Central Heating in Smithers B.C. North Central has just recently celebrated their 50th year of business which coincided with the grand opening of their new location. North Central is a full service plumbing, electrical and heating company. The company started out with a focus on furnaces and sheet metal, as the company grew they decided to carry wood stoves and this is where the relationship with Northwest Stoves began.

North Central has recently gained some global notoriety for their sidewalk to “nowhere” story. Check out this link for a laugh, <http://globalnews.ca/news/2917526/b-ctowns-shortsighted-sidewalk-to-nowhere-is-by-product-of-bylaws/>

We thank North Central Heating for being such a great partner and congratulate them on 50 years in business! We look forward to a long continued relationship and wish them well with their new annual “sidewalk sale.”

Northwest Stoves Employee Spotlight

Many of you know Chris Vecchies as the soft spoken, helpful, problem solving, all-around-good-guy from Northwest Stoves—and so do we. Chris, formerly from the shipping department, has been on the order desk for the past year and a half and I am sure at some time or another you have probably had the pleasure of dealing with him. Whether it be a warranty issue, parts, stoves or troubleshooting a grill he always seems to find the answer. What you may not know about Chris is his passion for cycling and his deep commitment to a great cause. Chris has been participating in the ride to conquer cancer events since 2014, most recently the BC 200km Ride to Conquer Cancer to Seattle. Inspiring Chris to take up the ride is his Uncle Gino Meneghetti who is a prostate cancer survivor and has been Chris' father figure for many years. Chris decided he could help support his Uncle and other cancer survivors and patients by being a part of this noble cause. In order to train for such an extensive route Chris usually embarks on 100 + kilometer rides every weekend to build up his endurance. Due to his passion and dedication Chris was made the co-captain of the team called Riders for Ryder team which was founded by a ride participant who lost his four and a half year old son to cancer. The team collectively raised 2.5 million dollars for cancer research. With Chris on their team we have no doubt they will be highly successful for years to come raising plenty of funds in the hopes of finding a cure for cancer.

Next time you get Chris on the phone ask him about his recent rides you will be amazed by how many rides he goes on and the distance he covers.
